If you test negative for the virus that causes Covid-19 but still have symptoms, you may have received a false negative test result. You should isolate away from others.

Visit c.gatech.edu/isolation for more information.